A true partner for IT services

These days, a company's success hinges on high-performance, reliable and secure IT.

But it isn't always economically sensible or even feasible to have all the necessary resources in-house.

That's when you need a strong partner – a partner like firstcolo.

Our philosophy

We strive to provide our customers with the best possible service. That's the heart of our business philosophy, and it shows in everything we do.

Right from the very first consultation, we perform a solid analysis and provide customized concepts to save you money and prevent problems before they even arise. We also know that a data center is something you need to be able to count on in the long term. That's why we think beyond the next quarter and even the next fiscal year, focusing on sustainable growth. Our success shows that we are on the right track. We are currently logging solid double-digit annual growth – and doing it without a lot of turnover, since satisfied customers are loyal customers.

By your side – right from the start

Outsourcing IT resources is a big step for any company, and one that requires detailed planning. That's why we support you starting from the conceptualization phase.

This ensures that all your requirements and wishes are taken into account. We have been in business for nearly 20 years, proving and growing our capabilities in a wide range of projects over that time. This allows us to do more than just guarantee a highly available infrastructure that meets your needs. Our outstanding technical support are here to help with whatever you may need, 24/7.

What we offer

Our services

In addition to classic colocation services, firstcolo offers a wide range of additional services that allow you to focus on your business model. Benefit from our high-performance network with its own fibre optic ring through Frankfurt, from our first-class managed services and monitoring services, from the 'firstcloud' cloud platform with guaranteed data location in Germany, or from our dedicated server offerings with connected storage and backup solutions.

Whether you need best-practice solutions or customised solutions tailored to your individual requirements, at firstcolo, you get everything from a single source. Benefit from our expertise!

Looking ahead

The IT market is fast-paced. The sheer volume of emerging technologies means that data center operators must stay one step ahead at all times.

In our role as an IT service provider with a focus on managed services, our goal is to be a strong, long-term partner to our customers – especially as new technologies arise and bring new requirements with them. And, of course, we do it all with a commitment to excellent value for money.

Expertise is our business

We set high standards for ourselves, performing all tasks accurately, securely, and efficiently. That's why our technicians are highly trained to meet all server and infrastructure requirements.

If there is ever a specific task for which we don't have the right specialist on our immediate team, we can draw from an extensive pool of experts who have been working with us for years.

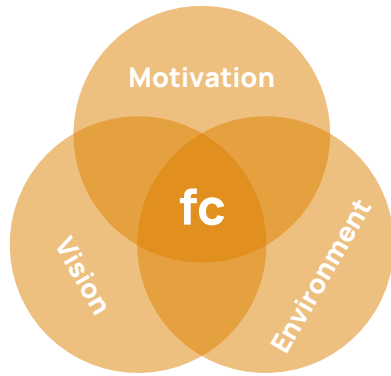

The company

Founded in 2004, firstcolo is now a high-performance IT service provider specializing in servers and networks, with two data center locations in Frankfurt am Main. We have been building a record of success in the market for nearly two decades – with rapid growth right from the start. What's our secret?

The Key to Our Success

We focus on consistency: from using the most advanced and efficient technologies to continuously expanding our capabilities, and through to a rigorous focus on the customer and service.

What drives us

The internet is the beating heart of the economy – and our lives. More and more products and services are moving online. Today, having a website is an integral part of practically any business model. Thanks to cloud computing, we can access our data from anywhere in the world. But a digital society must be able to rely on IT infrastructure being available at all times.

Our vision

Total security for our customers is our primary goal. Our services must meet even the most exacting demands – effortlessly and around the clock. That's why we ensure our customers can reach us at all times. We are always here for you with expert advice and practical assistance. We believe that outstanding service and a rigorous focus on the customer's well-being are fundamental obligations for any data center operator.

Taking action for the environment

Data centers are energy-intensive. We source ours from renewable energy wherever possible and consider the carbon footprint in all our decisions. We strive to minimize our energy consumption through continuous innovation. This allows us to live up to our social responsibility and actively contribute to environmental protection.
